THE BENEFITS OF ETI MEMBERSHIP
WHO WE ARE

ETI’s vision is of a world where Human Rights at Work are enjoyed by workers, respected by business, and protected by governments.

ETI’s mission is to harness the combined power of business, trade unions and NGOs to realise that vision.

The world of work, and the context within which businesses operate, is constantly changing. But the ETI Base Code, an internationally recognised code of good labour practice founded on the conventions of the International Labour Organisation, remains a fundamental global reference standard and a benchmark for responsible, ethical business practice all over the World.

Through membership, we provide practical support to business to act responsibly and promote decent work within their supply chains. We provide a safe space to our members to discuss shared challenges and identify solutions to systemic problems that organisations cannot tackle alone.

The ETI Base Code is an internationally recognised code of good labour practice

- Employment is freely chosen
- Working hours are not excessive
- Freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining are respected
- No discrimination is practised
- Working conditions are safe and hygienic
- Regular employment is provided
- Child labour shall not be used
- No harsh or inhumane treatment is allowed
- Living wages are paid
THE BUSINESS CASE FOR ETI MEMBERSHIP

BE FUTURE-READY
Businesses are facing multiple transitions, from climate change to future pandemics. Forward looking companies understand that investing in human capital and sustainable business models is key to building long-term resilience and future-proofing their businesses.

LEGISLATION
The UN Guiding Principles are clear; businesses are responsible for addressing their impact on Human Rights. There is growing pressure worldwide to strengthen this legislation. Businesses that are ahead of the curve are better placed to adapt to these changes.

MITIGATE RISK
Companies typically devote up to 80% of their ethical sourcing budget on the recurring cost of audit. Audit is ineffective in picking up many Human Rights violations, leaving companies to carry risks they cannot see. Investing in sustainable improvements by engaging with suppliers ‘beyond-audit’ is a far more effective way to mitigate risk.

ACCESS TO FINANCE
Finance is a powerful leverage to encourage ethical behaviour. Investment risk analysis places value on businesses having strong relationships with their suppliers, mitigating risk of disruption and disrepute, something that goes hand in hand with Human Rights due diligence.

BRAND INTEGRITY
With unprecedented access to information, consumers are increasingly engaged. The Pandemic has shone a light on how brands treat workers in their supply chains. Demonstrating respect for Human Rights at Work will build trust with consumers and protect brand integrity.
